Happy Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving 2022

Thanksgiving is all about reflecting on blessings and acknowledging gratitude. A day where we give thanks to those surrounding us that have made a positive impact on our life. Here are a few of our agents' Thanksgiving traditions and what they are thankful for this year.

Tyrese makes his travels from Adrian, Michigan to South Bend, Indiana to visit his family for Thanksgiving. He starts his day by helping his Mom finish cooking all the delicious foods for their Thanksgiving feast. He is joined by the rest of his family to play games and sing karaoke until dinner is ready. Once the food is served, Tyrese and his family gather around the table to say a prayer. He then proceeds to make his rounds at other family members' houses throughout the day. This year, Tyrese is thankful for life, close family and friends, and his education. (Tyrese and his family are pictured in the bottom left corner)

The Wagley's (the middle picture taken in 2004) look forward to their tradition of cutting down their Christmas tree at Arends Tree Farm in Chelsea, MI. The tradition started with friends 26 years ago and takes place every Thanksgiving weekend. Pictured are Joe, Becky, their daughters Jess and Jenn and their since deceased, furry friend Tucker. They are incredibly thankful for their faith, family, and friends.

Gene Merillat and his family love celebrating Thanksgiving together. One of Gene's Thanksgiving traditions is watching the Lions football game. He and his family gather together to play holiday games and cards before and after their Thanksgiving meal. Gene always looks forward to the pumpkin and pecan pie. This year, Gene is thankful for God's plan of Salvation, the blessing of being a grandparent, and the freedom we enjoy in the United States! Thanksgiving is a day where we reflect on the blessings we have received throughout the year. We encourage all of you to take a moment and give thanks to the people who surround you. This year at The Wagley Group, we are beyond grateful for each and everyone of you. Happy Thanksgiving!
